Rury, 2023-10-13 An Age of Accountability highlights the role of test based accountability as a policy framework in American education from 1970 to 2020 For more than half a century the quest to hold schools and educators accountable for academic achievement has relied almost exclusively on standardized assessment The theory of change embedded in almost all test based accountability programs held that assessment with stipulated consequences could lead to major improvements in schools This was accomplished politically by proclaiming lofty goals of attaining universal proficiency and closing achievement gaps which repeatedly failed to materialize But even after very clear disappointments no other policy framework has emerged to challenge its hegemony The American public today has little confidence in institutions to improve the quality of goods and services they provide especially in the public sector As a consequence many Americans continue to believe that accountability remains a vital necessity even if educators and policy scholars disagree Stopping the Spies Jane Duncan, 2018-06-01 Is South Africa on its way to becoming a surveillance state and will it need a whistleblower In 2013 former National Security Agency NSA contractor Edward Snowden leaked secret documents revealing that state agencies like the NSA had spied on the communications of millions of innocent citizens International outrage resulted but the Snowden documents revealed only the tip of the surveillance iceberg Apart from insisting on their rights to tap into communications more and more states are placing citizens under surveillance tracking their movements and transactions with public and private institutions The state is becoming like a one way mirror where it can see more of what its citizens do and say while citizens see less and less of what the state does owing to high levels of secrecy around surveillance In this book Jane Duncan assesses the relevance of Snowden s revelations for South Africa In doing so she questions the extent to which South Africa is becoming a surveillance society governed by a surveillance state Duncan challenges members of civil society to be concerned about and to act on the ever expanding surveillance capacities of the South African state Is surveillance used for the democratic purpose of making people safer or is it being used for the repressive purpose of social control especially of those considered to be politically threatening to ruling interests She explores the forms of collective action needed to ensure that unaccountable surveillance does not take place and examines what does and does not work when it comes to developing organised responses Maximising the Impact of Teaching

Assistants in Primary Schools Rob Webster, Paula Bosanquet, Sally Franklin, Matthew Parker, 2021-05-16 Drawing on the lessons from one of the world s leading research and development efforts involving teaching assistants TAs this book is the authors most authoritative text yet on how to design a whole school plan to improve TAs deployment practice and preparedness and put it into action The authors use robust theories and original research to explore an innovative and integrated approach to making the most of TAs and recognising the valuable contributions they make to the classroom and the school Structured around a unique and empirically sound conceptual framework this book provides essential principles practical tools and workable strategies developed through collaboration with hundreds of UK schools It focuses on ensuring TAs can thrive in their role and presents the tools and techniques needed to do so accessibly and is illustrated with case studies on school and classroom practices Essential reading for all primary school leaders and SENCOs responsible for training and managing TAs this book is also a useful resource for teachers and teaching assistants looking to optimise the TAs contributions Used in combination with The Teaching Assistant s Guide to Effective Interaction Maximising the Impact of Teaching Assistants in Primary Schools is a comprehensive and unrivalled guide to supporting school workforce improvement
