into the Hebrew language Constant was the son of a shoemaker in Paris he attended the seminary of Saint Sulpice since 1830 and began to study to enter the Roman Catholic priesthood However while at the seminary he fell in love and left in 1836 without being ordained He spent the following years among his socialist and Romantic friends including Henri François Alphonse Esquiros and so called petits romantiques such as Gérard de Nerval and Théophile Gautier During this time he turned to a radical socialism that was decisively inspired by the writings of Félicité de Lamennais the former leader of the influential neo Catholic movement who had recently broken with Rome and propagated a Christian socialism When Constant published his first radical writing La Bible de la liberté 1841 The Bible of Liberty he was sentenced to an eight month prison term and a high fine Contemporaries saw in him the most notorious disciple of Lamennais although the two men do not seem to have established a personal contact In the following years Constant would describe his ideology as communisme non catholique and publish a number of socialist books and pamphlets Like many socialists he propagated socialism as true Christianity and denounced the Churches as corruptors of the teachings of Christ Important friends at that time include next to Esquiros the feminist Flora Tristan the eccentric socialist mystic Simon Ganneau and the socialist Charley Fauvety In the course of the 1840s Constant developed close ties to the Fourierist movement publishing in Fourierist publications and praising Fourierism as the true Christianity Several of his books were published by the Fourierist Librairie phalanstérienne He also turned to the writings of the Catholic traditionalist Joseph de Maistre whose writings were highly popular in socialist circles An especially radical pamphlet La voix de la famine 1846 The Voice of Famine earned Constant another prison sentence that was significantly shortened at the request of his pregnant wife Marie Noémie Cadiot In his Testament de la liberté 1848 Constant reacted to the atmosphere that would produce the February Revolution In 1848 he was the leader of an especially notorious Montagnard club known for its radicalism Although it has been claimed that the Testament marked the end of Constant's socialist ambitions it has been argued that its content is in fact highly euphoric announcing the end of the people's martyrdom and the resurrection of Liberty the perfect universal socialist order Like many other socialists the course of events especially the massacres of the June Uprising in 1849 left him devastated and disillusioned As his friend Esquiros recounted their belief in the peaceful realization of a harmonious universal had been shattered
