

"I've thought of a plan," replied Billy. "Do you happen to know where we can find Longlegs the Blue Heron?"

"Yes," said Little Joe. "I saw him fishing not five minutes ago."

Then Billy told Little Joe his plan, and laughing and giggling, the two little scamps hurried off to find Longlegs the Blue Heron.

The neurobiology of emotion-cognition interactions Hadas Okon-Singer, Luiz Pessoa, Alexander J.

Shackman,2015-06-12 There is increasing interest in understanding the interplay of emotional and cognitive processes The objective of the Research Topic was to provide an interdisciplinary survey of cutting edge neuroscientific research on the interaction and integration of emotion and cognition in the brain The following original empirical reports commentaries and theoretical reviews provide a comprehensive survey on recent advances in understanding how emotional and cognitive processes interact how they are integrated in the brain and what their implications for understanding the mind and its disorders are These works encompasses a broad spectrum of populations and showcases a wide variety of paradigms measures analytic strategies and conceptual approaches The aim of the Topic was to begin to address several key questions about the interplay of cognitive and emotional processes in the brain including what is the impact of emotional states anxiety and stress on various cognitive functions How are emotion and cognition integrated in the brain Do individual differences in affective dimensions of temperament and personality alter cognitive performance and how is this realized in the brain Are there individual differences that increase vulnerability to the impact of affect on cognition who is vulnerable and who resilient How plastic is the interplay of cognition and emotion Taken together these works demonstrate that emotion and cognition are deeply interwoven in the fabric of the brain suggesting that widely held beliefs about the key constituents of the emotional brain and the cognitive brain are fundamentally flawed Developing a deeper understanding of the emotional cognitive brain is important not just for understanding the mind but also for elucidating the root causes of its many debilitating disorders

Context in Communication: A Cognitive View Gabriella Airenti,Marco Cruciani,Alessio Plebe,2017-04-03 Context is what contributes to interpret a communicative act beyond the spoken words It provides information essential to clarify the intentions of a speaker and thus to identify the actual meaning of an utterance A large amount of research in Pragmatics has shown how wide ranging and multifaceted this concept can be Context spans from the preceding words in a conversation to the general knowledge that the interlocutors supposedly share from the perceived environment to features and traits that the participants in a dialogue attribute to each other This last category is also very broad since it includes mental and emotional states together with culturally constructed knowledge such as the reciprocal identification of social roles and positions The assumption of a cognitive point of view brings to the foreground a number of new questions regarding how information about the context is organized in the mind and how this kind of knowledge is used in specific communicative situations A related very important question concerns the role played in this process by theory of mind abilities ToM both in typical and atypical populations In this Research Topic we bring together articles that address different aspects of context analysis from theoretical and empirical perspectives integrating knowledge and methods derived from Philosophy of language Linguistics Cognitive Science Cognitive Neuroscience Developmental and Clinical Psychology

Aging and Mental Health Lia Fernandes,Constança Paúl,2017-07-04 People are progressively ageing all over the world and it is estimated that the number of persons aged 60 or over will more than triple by 2100 This emerging population will experience an inevitable rise in dementia mental health problems and chronic diseases According to GBD 2010 neuropsychiatric disorders among older adults account for 6.6% of the total disability DALYs for this age group with 15% suffering from a mental disorder Multiple social psychological and biological factors are determinant of mental health as well as life stressors Among these the lack of independence limited mobility chronic diseases pain frailty or other mental and physical problems require long term care Beyond this the elderly are more prone to experience events such as bereavement a drop in socio economic status disability which leads to isolation loss of independence loneliness and psychological distress Mental health problems and needs assessment by health care professionals and older people themselves are under recognised and the stigma surrounding mental illness makes people reluctant to seek help The early investigation and diagnosis of these situations are crucial as well as prior management with an important combination of pharmacological and psychosocial interventions in conjunction with caregivers and families support The present book aims to contribute to the development of knowledge in Aging and Mental Health taking different approaches from authors coming from diverse scientific fields with the final goal being the improvement of quality of life and healthy aging for this growing population
