

Homework can be a challenge.

One day, the children called

Mrs. Smith and told her about their homework.

Every day, they had to do their homework.

When they were done, they felt tired.

One day, the children asked for a homework-free night.

Ready or not, they had to do their homework.

Keep on working hard, it will become fun to do!

Homework is an opportunity to learn

Or learn from your mistakes and improve.

Many different tasks and activities to be completed.

Everyone has their favourite, whether it's reading or writing reports.

When you finish your homework, you feel proud.

One day, the children asked for a homework-free night.

Ready or not, they had to do their homework.

Keep on working hard, it will become fun to do!

Social Studies Instruction Incorporating the Language Arts JoyAnn Hauge Morin, 2003 This text is designed to facilitate planning for preservice and inservice social studies educators through lesson and unit examples that reinforce basic language arts skills. Social Studies Instruction Incorporating the Language Arts features a series of lesson plans that can be used as models for the unit development of suggested topics for grade levels one through six. Intended to provide guidance for teachers as they plan instruction, this dynamic text equips teachers with a firm background for subsequent lesson and unit planning that reinforces basic skills while focusing on social studies content. The ideas that are presented in this text expand on the standards that are set forth by the National Council of Social Studies as well as by the State Departments of Education. The examples illustrate an integrated approach to teaching social studies content and the reinforcement of basic reading, writing, and speaking skills. Activities are intended to elicit and maintain student interest, active participation, and an in-depth
