| Initial Periods ofColonial America              | Colonial America was a place where people from many different countries and backgrounds came to live and work. The first colonists were primarily English, but there were also French, Spanish, and German settlers. The colonists faced many challenges, including disease, harsh weather, and native American tribes. They worked together to build homes, farms, and communities, and to establish a new way of life.                                 |
| Frenchand Indian War                            | The French and Indian War was a conflict between the British colonies and the French and their Native American allies. The war began in 1754 and ended in 1763. The British won the war, and it led to the French losing their colonies in North America to the British. The war also led to the British taking control of the Ohio River Valley.  |
| Revolutionary Warand the AmericanRevolution | The Revolutionary War was a conflict between the British colonies and the British. The war began in 1775 and ended in 1783. The colonies won the war, and it led to the formation of the United States of America. The war also led to the British losing their colonies in North America to the United States.  |
| Industrializationand the Civil War              | Industrialization was a period of rapid economic growth and technological advancement in the United States. It began in the late 1800s and continued through the early 1900s. The Civil War was a conflict between the Northern states and the Southern states. The war began in 1861 and ended in 1865. The Northern states won the war, and it led to the end of slavery in the United States.   |
| World War Iand the GreatDepression          | World War I was a conflict between the Allies (United States, United Kingdom, France, and others) and the Central Powers (Germany, Austria-Hungary, and others). The war began in 1914 and ended in 1918. The Great Depression was a period of economic hardship in the United States and around the world. It began in 1929 and lasted through the 1930s. The Great Depression led to the formation of the New Deal by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. |
| World War IIand the Cold War                    | World War II was a conflict between the Allies (United States, United Kingdom, Soviet Union, and others) and the Axis Powers (Germany, Italy, and Japan). The war began in 1939 and ended in 1945. The Cold War was a period of political and military tension between the United States and the Soviet Union. It began in the 1940s and continued through the 1980s.  |
| Latin AmericanIndependenceMovements         | Latin American independence movements were a series of revolutions and wars of independence in the Americas. They began in the late 1700s and continued through the early 1900s. The most famous independence movement was the War of Independence in Mexico, which began in 1810 and ended in 1821.   |
