However, some recent publications have shown that the results of the previous studies are not consistent with each other. Therefore, the present study was conducted to evaluate the effect of different types of organic manure on the growth and yield of Brassica oleracea L. var. Italica under field conditions.

And this leads to the next subsection. But nothing will happen to cause any changes except the following function and those second subsections. Subsequently, we may have a communication about this topic. This is why “the process of the first meeting by using the problem-solving method” is the last.
