

My autobiography

ME. My name is Mina. I'm 17 years old. I'm clearly Mexican and I was born there in Acapulco on May 25th in 1995. I'm a very positive person; I try to smile all the time even if I don't feel like it. I love to travel. My favorite dessert is macaroons. My favorite TV shows are Gossip Girl and The Simpsons. And I consider myself as an organized person.

FAMILY. I live with both of my parent and I have a really good relationship with them; but my relationship with my mom is very special because we trust each other a lot, we tell each other everything and I know I can count on her anytime. I have two older brothers and even though we fight a lot we get along very well.

FRIENDS. I knew most of my best friends in high school. I really love to be around them. I always have a lot of fun and I think I have a lot of best friends.

SCHOOL. I've always considered myself as a good student. I care, sometimes too much, about getting good grades, but I think it's the best.

GOALS. My main goals for now is to graduate and go to the best college I can get in, and I would love to go study abroad as much as I can. I want to be successful in my career and to go live and work in NYC. After being a successful woman, I want to have 7 or 8 children and live happily ever after with my charming prince.

PHRASE. "Follow your heart and your dreams will come true".

7th Grade Autobiography Essay:

The Ethics of Working Class Autobiography Elizabeth Bidinger, 2006-07-19 The ethical dimension of autobiography is emerging as an important area of study. Scholars now recognize that an autobiography must be read with an element of caution since it represents not so much the literal truth as the author's perception of people and events, a perspective sometimes unflattering to those portrayed. Focusing on the ethics of autobiography, this volume analyzes the works of four writers who spent much of their youth in working class circumstances yet became highly educated intellectual professionals. It examines the ways in which each author confronts his or her past and how the authors represent their working class family members. Texts discussed are Growing Up by Russell Baker (1982), Brothers and Keepers by John Edgar Wideman (1984), A Woman in Amber by Agate Nesaule (1995), and Clear Springs by Bobbie Ann Mason (1999). Each work recounts the author's struggle with a particular societal element such as gender, race, class, division, or region. While Baker's memoir provides an example of positive, balanced characterizations of working class relatives, the texts by Wideman, Nesaule, and Mason illustrate the ethical pitfalls in portraying less powerful family members in one's life story. An overview of trends in working class autobiography and a brief survey regarding the critical reception of each work are included. An Evaluation of Free Reading in Grades Seven to Twelve, Inclusive Lou Le Vanche La Brant, Frieda Maurie Heller, 1939 Central School Journal, 1893 Knowing the Past Suzy Anger, 2018-08-06 To what extent is it possible to know the past or to know other cultures? Can one describe the past without imposing one's own cultural, political, social, or personal preconceptions? Testing the current skepticism that insists that it is impossible not to read one's own moment onto other times and cultures, the essays in this collection use the Victorian era as a means of developing a theory and critique of historical reclamation. In Knowing the Past, a distinguished group of Victorian scholars reflect on the Victorian past and examine the Victorians' own sophisticated contributions to debates about historical and cultural knowledge. Confronting, confirming, and opposing the skeptics, the essays provide close readings of particular texts. They encompass the larger constellation of ideas and questions that went into the making of the texts while participating in larger theoretical debates about knowledge of the past and other cultures. The Master's Degree for Secondary School Teachers Paul William Stansbury, 1939 Major Authors and Illustrators for Children and Young Adults Laurie Collier, Joyce Nakamura, 1993 Contains updated and revised sketches on nearly 800 of the most widely read authors and illustrators appearing in Gale's Something about the Author series.
