

Chapter 5 -- Elasticity and Its Application

In this chapter, look for the answers to these questions:

- What is elasticity? What kinds of factors can elasticity help us understand?
- What is the price elasticity of demand? How is it related to the demand curve? How is it related to demand's responsiveness?
- What is the price elasticity of supply? How is it related to the supply curve?
- What are the income and cross-price elasticities of demand?

It interests...

How large will the loss be from a decrease in the number of customers?

How large will the loss be from a decrease in the number of customers per hour?

How large will the loss be from a decrease in the number of customers per hour, assuming that the loss is proportional to the number of customers per hour?

How large will the loss be from a decrease in the number of customers per hour, assuming that the loss is proportional to the number of customers per hour, assuming that the loss is proportional to the number of customers per hour?

elasticity

- Elasticity measures how much the quantity demanded of a good responds to a change in the price of that good. The price elasticity of demand measures the responsiveness of demand to a change in price.
- Elasticity measures how much the quantity supplied of a good responds to a change in the price of that good. The price elasticity of supply measures the responsiveness of supply to a change in price.

Price Elasticity of Demand

- The price elasticity of demand measures how much Q^D responds to a change in P .
- Formula for the price elasticity of demand:

$$\text{Price elasticity of demand} = \frac{\text{Percentage change in } Q^D}{\text{Percentage change in } P}$$

Using a demand curve, P and Q^D move in opposite directions, which usually makes price elasticity negative. Use only the absolute value, and report absolute values as positive numbers.

Example:

The price elasticity of demand for a good is -1.5. If the price of the good falls by 10%, the quantity demanded will increase by 15%.

Calculating Percentage Changes

Percentage change in P = $\frac{\Delta P}{P} \times 100$

Percentage change in Q^D = $\frac{\Delta Q^D}{Q^D} \times 100$
