The scientific program of the meeting included 46 plenary presentations, 3 public lectures, 5 round tables and 81 parallel sessions arranged during the intense six day online meeting. All talks were recorded and are available on the ICRANet YouTube channel at the following link: www.icranet.org/video\_mg16. These proceedings are a representative sample of the very many contributions made at the meeting. They contain 383 papers, among which 14 come from the plenary sessions. The material represented in these proceedings cover the following topics: accretion, active galactic nuclei, alternative theories of gravity, black holes theory, observations and experiments, binaries, boson stars, cosmic microwave background, cosmic strings, dark energy and large scale structure, dark matter, education, exact solutions, early universe, fundamental interactions and stellar evolution, fast transients, gravitational waves, high energy physics, history of relativity, neutron stars, precision tests, quantum gravity, strong fields and white dwarf. Chemokines and Chemokine Receptors in Brain Homeostasis Flavia Trettel, Richard M. Ransohoff, 2015-08-17 Virtually involved in all pathologies that present an inflammatory component, it is now evident that in the central nervous system chemokines and chemokine receptors possess pleiotropic properties beyond chemotaxis. Constitutive brain expression of chemokines and their receptors on endothelial cells but also on neurons and glia suggests a role for such molecules in mediating homeostatic cross talk between cells of the brain parenchyma. Cross talk between neurons and glia is determinant to the establishment and maintenance of a brain environment that ensure normal function and in particular glial cells are active players that respond to environmental changes and act for the survival, growth, differentiation and repair of the nervous tissue. In this regard, brain endogenous chemokines represent key molecules that play a role in brain development, neurogenesis, neurotransmission and neuroprotection. As important regulators of peripheral immune response, chemokines are molecules of the immune system that play a central role in coordinating communication between the nervous and the immune systems in the context of infections and brain injury. Indeed, in pathological processes resulting from infections, brain trauma, ischemia and chronic neurodegenerative diseases, chemokines represent important neuroinflammatory mediators that drive leucocytes trafficking into the central nervous system, facilitating an immune response by targeting cells of the innate and adaptive immune system. The third edition of the international conference "Chemokines and Chemokine Receptors in the Nervous System" held in Rome in October 2013 represented an exciting platform to promote discussion among researchers in different disciplines to understand the role of chemokines in brain homoestasis This Frontiers Research Topic arises from this conference and wants to be an opportunity to further discuss and highlight the importance of brain chemokines as key molecules that not only grant the interplay between the immune and the nervous systems but in addition drive modulatory functions on brain homeoastasis orchestrating neurons microglia and astrocytes communication
