Ward's Automotive International ,1996-10 Volunteering in Community Sports Associations Geoff Nichols,2017-06-01 This review paper focuses on volunteers in community sports associations CSAs Such associations are a major context of sports volunteering across Europe Canada and Australia the countries in which a multitude of sports clubs are represented by governing bodies of sport Their importance is not only in the large numbers of volunteers involved but also in the benefits of such associations to society The clearest of these is the provision of opportunities to take part in sport at a cost subsidized by the efforts of volunteers and thus contributing to physical health However the benefits extend more broadly to the quality of life and the rewards the volunteers themselves receive from association Many community sports associations have a significant number of members who while they do not actually play sport themselves provide opportunities for others and also enjoy the social rewards of membership The aim of this broad ranging review is to introduce the reader to community sports associations as an example of small volunteer led associations and to make links between academic theory in this area and the more general study of volunteering The breadth of the review allows readers to follow up supporting references on individual topics The author s extensive experience primarily of England and Europe has inevitably led to more examples being drawn from these areas however broader international work is also incorporated It is hoped this review will stimulate readers thinking about volunteering in their own country
