Handbook for the Development of Performance Standards Linda N. Hansche, 1998 Title I of the Improving America's Schools Act (IASA) of 1994 provides funds for schools with large concentrations of children from low income families. A fundamental requirement is that children served by Title I funds must be educated according to the same academic standards as all other students. This handbook focuses on methods for developing performance standards in the aligned system of standards and assessments required by IASA Title I. The handbook aims to capture the best of current practice without relying solely on the published literature by drawing on the experiences of educators and recent research. The first section (chapters 1-4) defines performance standards in the context of an aligned education system and provides advice for developing a system of performance standards. Chapters introduce the idea of performance standards as a system, provide background about Title I legislation, and define terms related to performance standards. The second section (chapters 5-8) contains several state stories about initiating and developing performance standards and standards-based assessment programs. Chapters focus on Colorado, Maryland, Oregon, and Wyoming. The third section (chapters 9-10) contains the work of nationally recognized researchers in the field of assessment. Chapter 9, Creating Descriptions of Desired Student Achievement When Setting Performance Standards by Craig N. Mills and Richard M. Jaeger, describes a method for developing performance standards. Chapter 10, Setting Performance Standards on Achievement Tests Meeting the Requirements of Title I by Ronald K. Hambleton, synthesizes research related to cutting scores. Most chapters contain references. Four appendices present the instruments. Contains 16 figures and 4 tables. SLD

Modern Curriculum for Gifted and Advanced Academic Students Todd A. Kettler, 2021-09-03 Modern Curriculum for Gifted and Advanced Academic Students addresses the need for advanced curriculum design in an age of national standards and 21st century learning innovations. The text and its authors work from the assumption that the most advanced learners need a qualitatively different design of learning experiences in order to develop their potential into outstanding achievement, answering the question: How should we design learning experiences for our most advanced academic students in the foundational curriculum areas? This book provides the most contemporary thinking about how to design in depth courses of study in the foundational curriculum areas with a high degree of complexity and advanced content. The book includes chapters articulating specific design components like creative thinking, critical thinking, and authentic research, but also subject-specific chapters in mathematics, language arts, science, and social studies to demonstrate application of those design components.

Core Curriculum Content Standards Ellen M. Schechter, 1996-12 Covers 56 standards covering 7 academic content areas: visual performing arts, comprehensive health, physical education, language arts, literacy, math, science, social studies, world languages. They are not meant to serve as a statewide curriculum guide. They define the results expected but do not limit strategies for how to ensure that students achieve these expectations. Insistence on a core curriculum means that every student will be involved in experiences addressing all of the expectations of
