Horst,Carmel Houston-Price,2016-01-21 Looking at and listening to picture and story books is a ubiquitous activity frequently enjoyed by many young children and their parents Well before children can read for themselves they are able to learn from books Looking at and listening to books increases children s general knowledge understanding about the world and promotes language acquisition This collection of papers demonstrates the breadth of information pre reading children learn from books and increases our understanding of the social and cognitive mechanisms that support this learning Our hope is that this Research Topic eBook will be useful for researchers as well as educational practitioners and parents who are interested in optimizing children s learning

Research on Teaching Strategies and Skills in Different Educational Stages Pedro Gil-Madrone, Linda Saraiva, Luisa Losada-Puente,2025-03-19 The teaching practice becomes a reciprocal activity in the classroom when teachers apply their creativity and their knowledge resulting from research and scientific evidence in the didactic teaching process with the purpose of strengthening in the students the key competencies of their training turning students at the core of the didactic process Teaching strategies must be articulated from previous research and planning and designed sequentially to promote real and interesting learning scenarios and thereby achieve significant learning From this perspective of teaching learning strategies the reciprocal interaction between the student and the teacher becomes the focus of attention with a playful motivating interesting and rewarding approach for the learner The role of the teacher is conceived as fundamental in the teaching process to achieve the link between teaching learning and evaluation strategies For this reason multidisciplinary studies are welcome from all stages of the educational system with quantitative qualitative and mixed approaches and reviews promoting good teaching practices of reflection and innovation from these studies Mathematical and Statistics Anxiety: Educational, Social, Developmental and Cognitive Perspectives Kinga Morsanyi,Irene Cristina Mammarella,Denes Szűcs,Carlo Tomasetto,Caterina Primi,Erin Anne Maloney,2017-01-19 Mathematical anxiety is a feeling of tension apprehension or fear which arises when a person is faced with mathematical content The negative consequences of mathematical anxiety are well documented Students with high levels of mathematical anxiety might underperform in important test situations they tend to hold negative attitudes towards mathematics and they are likely to opt out of elective mathematics courses which also affects their career opportunities Although at the university level many students do not continue to study mathematics social science students are confronted with the fact that their disciplines involve learning about statistics another potential source of anxiety for students who are uncomfortable with dealing with numerical content Research on mathematical anxiety is a truly interdisciplinary field with contributions from educational developmental cognitive social and neuroscience researchers The current collection of papers demonstrates the diversity of the field offering both new empirical contributions and reviews of existing studies The contributors also outline future directions for this line of research

Newman, 2016-08-16 Adapted from David M Newman's best selling Sociology Exploring the Architecture of Everyday Life this briefer streamlined version continues to show students how to see the unfamiliar in the familiar inspiring them to think critically about their own lives and social contexts As in the full text the author's approachable writing style and lively personal anecdotes make the Brief Edition a text that reads like a real book It uses the metaphors of architecture and construction to help students understand that society is not something that exists out there independently of themselves it is a human creation that is planned formed maintained or altered by individuals Rather than surveying every subfield in sociology the Brief Edition focuses on the individual and society the construction of self and society and social inequality in the context of social structures Psychological perspectives on expertise Guillermo Campitelli, Michael H Connors, Merim Bilalić, David Zachary Hambrick, 2015-05-19 Experts are persons who are very knowledgeable about or skillful in a particular area The aim of this Research Topic is to advance knowledge in the understanding of the phenomenon of expertise by putting together different lines of research that directly or indirectly study expertise Herbert Simon's expertise studies initiated two lines of research One is interested in elucidating the cognitive processes underlying expertise and the other investigates how expertise develops These lines of research started with studies comparing experts and novices in chess and then they extended to numerous areas of expertise such as music medical diagnosis sports arts and sciences In the field of judgment and decision making researchers investigate the quality of judgments and decisions of experts in different professions e g clinical psychologists medical practitioners judges meteorologists stock brokers Those lines of research explicitly investigate the topic of expertise but there are other research areas that make a substantial contribution to understanding expertise Scholars in language acquisition and in face perception for example investigate cognitive processes and development of expertise in areas in which almost everyone becomes an expert Furthermore skill acquisition research informs in detail about short term cognitive changes that may be important to understand how expertise develops We are interested in original research that advances knowledge in the understanding of decision making cognitive processes and development of expertise in sports intellectual games arts scientific disciplines and professions as well as expertise in cognitive abilities such as perception memory attention language and imagery We are also interested in theoretical articles in any of these areas articles that describe computational or mathematical models of expertise and articles offering a framework that would guide expertise research Articles that offer integrative approaches of some of the areas described above are strongly encouraged The goal of this Research Topic is to produce a hallmark piece of work in the field of expertise which complements and does not overlap with the Neural implementations of expertise Research Topic in Frontiers in Human Neuroscience
