

CSEC SOCIAL STUDIES

SECTION A

Government

Individual, Family and Society

The Conference of Heads of Government consists of the heads of government or Prime Ministers of each member state of the Caribbean Community, with the exception of Guyana and Suriname who has Executive Presidents representing their interests. Montserrat uses their chief Minister to represent their interests at the Conference of Heads of Government. The heads of Government are expected to meet at least once a year and carry out the following functions:

- Decide on policies and general direction of Caricom
- Act as the final authority for the conclusion of treaties on behalf of Caricom and for entering into relationships between Caricom and International bodies.
- resolve conflict and disputes among member states
- make the financial arrangements to meet the expenses of the community.
- Constitution - It is a written document which contains the most important laws and principles by which the citizens of a country agree to be governed. This is the most important legislation of any country in the Commonwealth Caribbean.

The constitution serves to protect the fundamental human rights; in fact, the Judiciary protects the constitutional rights of citizens.

- The Constitution of the Commonwealth Caribbean countries contains a Bill of Rights which is based on the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

This system was implemented in the 1600's and did not cater to the slaves, free negroes nor the coloured people. This was made obvious because none of those mentioned (slaves, free negroes or coloureds) had the right to participate in the election process. That right was reserved only for the white population.

Let us look at the structure of the Old Representative System:
