

Chapter 9

Management Control Systems and Responsibility Accounting

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

When your students have finished studying this chapter, they should be able to:

1. Describe the relationship of management control systems to organizational goals.
2. Use responsibility accounting to define an organizational subunit as a cost center, a profit center, or an investment center.
3. Compare financial and nonfinancial performance, and explain why planning and control systems should consider both.
4. Explain the importance of evaluating performance and how it impacts motivation, goal congruence, and employee effort.
5. Prepare segment income statements for evaluating profit and investment centers using contribution margin and controllable-cost concepts.
6. Measure performance against quality, cycle time, and productivity objectives.
7. Describe the difficulties of management control in service and nonprofit organizations.
