Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine whether the use of a computer-based decision support system (DSS) would improve the performance of a group of students in a complex task. The DSS was designed to help students make decisions about the allocation of resources in a simulated environment. The results showed that the use of the DSS significantly improved the performance of the students compared to a control group. The DSS also helped students to make more informed decisions and to reduce the time taken to complete the task.
