Balance Sheet

Assets are economic resources, whereas liabilities and stockholders' equity are sources of financing for the economic resources. Liabilities are economic obligations, whereas the financing provided by the owners of the corporation is stockholders' equity. Assets, liabilities, and equity are reported on the balance sheet, every balance sheet of a corporation is based on the following equation:

FORMULA: Assets = Liabilities + Stockholders' Equity

Monitoring the balance sheet formula can help when analyzing business transactions, understanding how a transaction impacts the elements of the balance sheet is fundamental to transaction analysis and the practice of accounting.

Net worth, calculated for both individuals and business entities, is a measure of wealth; the net worth formula is a derivative of the balance sheet equation.

FORMULA: Net Worth = Assets - Liabilities
 EX: If you own assets worth $750,000 and have liabilities of $250,000, then your net worth is $500,000 (i.e., $750,000 - $250,000).

When a company's organization does not have owners, the third section of the balance sheet is known as net assets (instead of owner's equity or stockholders' equity); a company's balance sheet is represented by the following accounting equation:

FORMULA: Assets = Liabilities + Net Assets

Assets are the resources owned by the business; current assets include cash, accounts and notes receivables, inventory, and prepaid expenses; noncurrent assets include long-term investments, property and equipment, and intangible assets.

FORMULA: Assets = Current Assets + Noncurrent Assets

Liabilities are the obligations or claims of the business against the assets of that business; current liabilities include accounts payable, notes payable, and accrued liabilities payable; noncurrent liabilities include all long-term debt.

FORMULA: Liabilities = Current Liabilities + Noncurrent Liabilities

Some companies have obligations that do not show up on the balance sheet (these "off-balance sheet" liabilities are known as the financial benefits that can be realized and they normally impact the financial health of the entity).

Equity, synonymous with net worth, is the ownership interest in a company; part of equity is contributed capital, which includes investments made by stockholders in the company's common and preferred stock; another part is retained earnings, which is the net income that has been invested in the entity since the start of the accounting period.

FORMULA: Stockholders' Equity = Contributed Capital + Retained Earnings

Changes in the retained earnings balance (i.e., income statement can happen whenever a company is profitable (net income), is unprofitable (net loss), or pays dividends; net income increases retained earnings and dividends, which are earnings paid to stockholders, and reduce the balance of retained earnings.

FORMULA: Change in Retained Earnings = Net Income - Dividends

Net income reduces retained earnings, as do other prior period adjustments for overstatements of net income; prior period adjustments for understatements of net income increase retained earnings.

In a partnership, the equity is called partners' capital, which is essentially capital contributions by partners (investments) and net income and decreased when there is a net loss or when partners withdraw capital (drawings).

FORMULA: Ending Capital = Beginning Capital + Net Income (or - Net Loss) + Investment - Drawings

EX: If the beginning capital is $200,000, net income for the year is $100,000 with no new investments, and the owners draw out $50,000, then the ending capital will be $250,000 (i.e., $200,000 + $100,000 - $50,000).

Income Statement & Retained Earnings

The income statement arrives at a formula to calculate net income or net loss; revenues are earned from the sale of goods or services to customers, whereas expenses represent the cost of resources (the only cost to earn the revenues, if the revenues are greater than the expenses, then the result of the formula is a positive number (net income); if the expenses are greater than the revenues, then the result of the formula is a negative number (net loss). The income statement of a company, or the profit and loss statement (P&L), consists of the following formula:

FORMULA: Net Income (or Net Loss) = Revenues - Expenses

Net sales are the total revenues of a business; net sales take into account discounts given to customers for various reasons.

FORMULA: Net Sales = Gross Sales - Sales Discounts + Credit Card Discounts - Sales Returns and Allowances

EX: Gross Sales = Total sales for a period before subtracting discounts.

Sales Discounts = Discounts given because of early payment.

Credit Card Discounts = The amount charged by the credit card company (e.g., 3% of sale amount).

Sales Returns and Allowances = A reduction of sales revenue for returns or allowances for unsatisfactory goods.

EX: If gross sales are $1,000,000 with discounts of $100,000 granted for early payments and returns of $20,000, then the net sales would be $880,000 (i.e., $1,000,000 - $100,000 - $20,000).

Net Income is an important concept, as it is the residual amount after expenses for the revenues and stockholders; with corporations, income available to common stockholders is a more relevant calculation, as it gives a more refined, accurate picture of profitability.

FORMULA: Income Available to Common Stockholders = Net Income - Dividends or Preferred Stock for the Current Period

Income statements can be presented in various formats; one popular format is the classified income statement, which starts the income from operations and the net income for a particular period of time arranged as follows:

Net Sales
Cost of Goods Sold
Gross Margin
Operating Expenses
Net Operating Income
Non-Operating Revenues and Expenses
Income Before Income Taxes
Income Taxes
Net Income

The calculation of net income is really the result of several formulas, such as gross margin, net operating income, and income before taxes:

FORMULA: Gross Margin = Net Sales - Cost of Goods Sold

Net Operating Income = Gross Margin - Operating Expenses

Income Before Income Taxes = Net Operating Income + Nonoperating Revenues and Gains - Nonoperating Expenses and Losses

Net Income = Income Before Income Taxes - Income Taxes

EX: If net sales are $750,000 and the cost of goods sold is $200,000, then the gross margin is $550,000 (i.e., $750,000 - $200,000), which must exceed the operating expenses in order to break even at production net income.

Gross margin is also called gross profit.

The income statement can also be presented in the contribution margin format, which is useful to managers for decision-making purposes.

FORMULA: Net Income = Contribution Margin - Variable Expenses + Contribution Margin - Fixed Expenses

The contribution margin format can also be used to construct a segment income statement.

FORMULA: Segment Revenue (or Sales) - Segment Variable Expenses = Contribution Margin - Segment Fixed Expenses = Segment Margin

Breakable fixed expenses are those expenses that not only are fixed but also can be associated with the segment with a high degree of accuracy.

A segment can be a division, product, customer, or territory—that is, any part of a business that which management wants to track profitability.

Some companies' primary programs or products programs that must contain several assets, it issues a statement of activities (instead of the income statement issued by a for-profit business), which shows the ending balance of net assets.

FORMULA: Ending Net Assets = Revenues - Expenses + Beginning Net Assets

EX: Revenues = Such things as contributions by donors, membership dues, program fees, money raised from fundraising events, grants, and investment income.

Expenses = Programs expenses, which are the amounts directly incurred by the nonprofit in carrying out its programs and supporting various expenses, including management, general, and fundraising expenses.

Nonprofit and governmental agencies practice a form of accounting that is a bit different from GAAP, whereas the annual report is the focus of the profit companies, the budget is the prominent report for a nonprofit and governmental agency.

Earnings per share (EPS) is the amount of common stock earnings that can be associated with a single share of a company's common stock, or equity with a simple capital structure (only common stock outstanding) has basic earnings per share (BEPS).

FORMULA: BEPS = $\frac{\text{Income Available to Common Stockholders}}{\text{Weighted-Average Number of Common Shares Outstanding}}$
