

Activity 10-1

Reading: read the article about genetic variation in Arabidopsis thaliana (see the following questions). Respond to the questions about understanding of the concepts discussed in the lecture.

1. Match each of the following changes in chromosome structure to its definition:

☒ A. Crossing

☐ B. Duplication

☐ C. Inversion

☐ D. Translocation

1a. is fusion of 2 chromosomes by breakage

1b. is presence of chromosome is deleted

1c. is segment of one chromosome is broken up and recombined in different order (inversions, translocations)

1d. is fusion of 2 chromosomes (segment from one chromosome is added to another)

2. How many genetically different gametes can be produced from a diploid cell with 4 pairs of chromosomes (pairs)? Explain your answer.

2a. Since the number of genetically different gametes that can be produced is equal to 2^n , where n is total number of chromosomes pairs, a diploid cell with 4 pairs of chromosomes can produce $2^4 = 16$ genetically different gametes.

3. Although you observed a combination of traits from your parents, you recognize that some traits carry the less frequent chromosomes (for example, hair color and eye color). Why may some traits be inherited together?

3a. Traits that are inherited together are those on the same chromosome. Chromosomes have the same genes associated with them, and a chromosome only has one copy. Some traits, such as hair color and eye color, are carried on the same chromosome and are inherited together.

4. Describe the alignment of chromosomes during prophase I, write the equations.

4a. During prophase I, homologous chromosomes align together, called synapsis. This is important because it allows the crossing over to occur and results in the genetic recombination.

5. How does recombination lead to chromosomal polymorphism? Describe two types of genetic disorders that can result from recombination.
