

Q4. Are you surprised by this source? Explain your answer using source and your knowledge. [7 marks]

This source is surprising because it was written by someone in a position of authority. It states that the League handled international politics, even if it did not have the power to enforce its decisions.

Q5. How far do these sources provide convincing evidence that the League of Nations was an effective peacekeeping organisation between 1920 and 1936? Use the sources to explain your answer. [9 marks]

Some sources provide convincing evidence that the League of Nations was effective in maintaining peace. Source C acknowledges the League's role in resolving the 'small' disputes between nations.

Q6. How far do Sources C and D agree about the League of Nations? Explain your answer using details from the sources. [8 marks]

Both sources acknowledge that the League of Nations had successes and should not be dismissed. Source C mentions that it played a significant role in maintaining international peace, while Source D describes it as a 'total platform' for smaller and more serious disputes.

Q7. Why was this source produced in Britain at this time? [3 marks]

The purpose of this cartoon is to criticise the ineffectiveness of the League of Nations in addressing Japanese aggression during the Manchurian Crisis of 1931-33. It aims to highlight the League's failure to act decisively and to evoke frustration or ridicule from its audience, which would primarily have been British readers in 1933. In the cartoon, the League is depicted as a small, timid figure, being trampled on by Japan with muddy boots. This illustration symbolises Japan's disregard for the League's authority as well as the League's powerlessness and the subsequent humiliation that comes from its failure to act.
