2013 Question Paper For November Gauteng Province:

Making Public in a Privatized World David A. McDonald, 2016-02-15 How do we provide effective public services in a deeply neoliberal world In the wake of the widespread failure of privatisation efforts societies in the global south are increasingly seeking progressive ways of recreating the public sector With contributors ranging from cutting edge scholars to activists working in health water and energy provision and with case studies covering a broad spectrum of localities and actors Making Public in a Privatized World uncovers the radically different ways in which public services are being reshaped from the grassroots up From communities holding the state accountable for public health in rural Guatemala to waste pickers in India and decentralized solar electricity initiatives in Africa the essays in this collection offer probing insights into the complex ways in which people are building genuine alternatives to privatization while also illustrating the challenges which communities face in creating public services which are not subordinated to the logic of the market or to the monolithic state entities of the past

Anatomy of a South African Karst Hydrosystem Philip J. Hobbs, Harrison Pienaar, Eddie van Wyk, Yongxin Xu, 2022-08-05 This book combines the results of the research activities in the assessment of water resources environment and an integrated water resource monitoring program to support preservation efforts of the aquatic environment of the Cradle of Humankind COH World Heritage Sites A poor understanding of the surface and groundwater resources of the COH property has precipitated often alarmist reporting in the media regarding the negative impacts associated with various sources of poor quality water The most notable of these is the acid mine drainage threat to karst ecosystems and fossil sites across the property These circumstances have generated wide and considerable concern for the preservation of the UNESCO inscribed fossil sites and integrity of the water resources of the property

Understanding African Real Estate Markets Aly Karam, François Viruly, Catherine Kariuki, Victor Akujuru, 2022-04-28 This book brings together a broad range of research that interrogates how real estate market analysis finance planning and investment for residential and commercial developments across the African continent are undertaken In the past two decades African real estate markets have rapidly matured creating the conditions for new investment opportunities which has increased the demand for a deeper understanding of the commercial and residential markets across the continent The chapters consider issues that pertain to formal real estate markets and the critical relationship between formal and informal property markets on the continent With contributing authors from South Africa Ghana Nigeria Uganda Kenya and Tanzania the book considers the achievements of African real estate markets while also highlighting the complex central themes such as underdeveloped land tenure arrangements the availability of finance in both the commercial and residential sectors rapidly growing urban areas and inadequate professional skills This book is essential reading for students in real estate land management planning finance development and economics programs who need to understand the nuances of markets in the African context

Investors and policy makers will learn a lot reading this book too

Development In Modern Africa Martin S.

Shanguhya, Toyin Falola, 2019-10-08 Development in Modern Africa Past and Present Perspectives contributes to our understanding of Africa's experiences with the development process. It does so by adopting a historical and contemporary analysis of this experience. The book is set within the context of critiques on development in Africa that have yielded two general categories of analysis: skepticism and pessimism. While not overlooking the shortcomings of development, the themes in the book express an optimistic view of Africa's development experiences, highlighting elements that can be tapped into to enhance the condition of African populations and their states. By using case studies from precolonial, colonial, and postcolonial Africa, contributors to the volume demonstrate that human instincts to improve material, social, and spiritual worlds are universal. They are not limited to the Western world, which the term and process of development are typically associated with. Before and after contact with the West, Africans have actively created institutions and values that they have actively employed to improve individual and community lives. This innovative spirit has motivated Africans to integrate or experiment with new values and structures, challenges, and solutions to human welfare that resulted from contact with colonialism and the postcolonial global community. The book will be of interest to academics in the fields of history, African studies, and regional studies.

Africa Now! Adebunmi Adeniran, Lanre Ikuteyijo, 2017-11-20 This book presents relevant and timely endogenous procedures for addressing the challenge of transforming ideas into sustainable opportunities in Africa. It explores how Africa could be understood in the context of emerging global realities, providing alternative frameworks that will not just be participatory in conception and practice but equally show a contextual workability for the varying aspects of the developmental enterprise in Africa. Despite having alternative and less cumbersome sources of funding with commendable economic growth indices and several economies among the fastest growing globally, African countries have been unable to transmute related opportunities into sustainable human development outcomes for majority of its citizenry. Over four rich sections, the authors cover subjects ranging from environment and natural resource management to governance, economy, and sustainable development. The book continues with a section on Education and Human Development and a case study in transnationalism. The final section discusses crime, conflict, and regional dynamics, including highly disputed topics such as forced migration and sex trade. This indispensable resource will be of great use to students and researchers globally in fields such as sociology, anthropology, environmental studies, politics, and economics, with a focus on contemporary Africa as well as to policy planners and human rights activists invested in the future development of Africa.

Business, Peacebuilding, and Regulation Sean Molloy, 2024-08-26 This book examines the relationship between business-based peacebuilding and the opportunities that emerge from the pluralisation of regulation. The core message is notwithstanding the broad range of regulatory initiatives and actors that exist in conflict-affected settings, the state should assume responsibilities for defining the types of contribution that business can and ought to make to peace. It also demonstrates how the state, through different forms and methods of regulation, is well placed to engage businesses to do so. It is particularly concerned with the potential for regulation to help address what is identified as a state of optimistic uncertainty in the field of business and peacebuilding. On one level there is a sense of optimism around the types of contributions that businesses can and often do make as agents for peace. On another there are varying degrees of uncertainty surrounding the actual peacebuilding impacts of business activities, how businesses are to understand the ways in which to make these contributions and why businesses would do so. Regulation, this book will argue, can play an important role in bridging the chasm between optimism and uncertainty. This book will be of interest to those engaged not only with business and peacebuilding but also business and human rights, business and development and business and the environment. Moreover, this book is also of contemporary interest in other ways: the aftermath of the Ukrainian conflict as an example will require a concerted effort to rebuild that society after war. Private sector actors could be a powerful vehicle for reconstruction and development and this book examines how regulation can be used to facilitate businesses' involvement in peacebuilding efforts.

Energy Poverty and Vulnerability Neil Simcock, Harriet Thomson, Saska Petrova, Stefan Bouzarovski, 2017-09-07. Energy Poverty and Vulnerability provides novel and critical perspectives on the drivers and consequences of energy-related injustices in the home. Drawing together original research conducted by leading experts, the book offers fresh and innovative insights into the ways in which hitherto unexplored factors such as cultural norms, environmental conditions and household needs combine to shape vulnerability to energy poverty.
