2013 Poverty Guidelines For Immigration:

Federal Register ,2014 Immigration Law Service ,2000 The Road to Citizenship Sofya Aptekar,2015-03-18

Between 2000 and 2011 eight million immigrants became American citizens In naturalization ceremonies large and small these new Americans pledged an oath of allegiance to the United States gaining the right to vote serve on juries and hold political office access to certain jobs and the legal rights of full citizens In The Road to Citizenship Sofya Aptekar analyzes what the process of becoming a citizen means for these newly minted Americans and what it means for the United States as a whole Examining the evolution of the discursive role of immigrants in American society from potential traitors to morally superior supercitizens Aptekar s in depth research uncovers considerable contradictions with the way naturalization works today Census data reveal that citizenship is distributed in ways that increasingly exacerbate existing class and racial inequalities at the same time that immigrants own understandings of naturalization defy accepted stories we tell about assimilation citizenship and becoming American Aptekar contends that debates about immigration must be broadened beyond the current focus on borders and documentation to include larger questions about the definition of citizenship Aptekar s work brings into sharp relief key questions about the overall system does the current naturalization process accurately reflect our priorities as a nation and reflect the values we wish to instill in new residents and citizens Should barriers to full membership in the American polity be lowered What are the implications of keeping the process the same or changing it Using archival research interviews analysis of census and survey data and participant observation of citizenship ceremonies The Road to Citizenship demonstrates the ways in which naturalization itself reflects the larger operations of social cohesion and democracy in America Congressional Record United States. capitalist system Navarro argues that the United States is not a representative democracy but in fact is a White Corporatistic Dictatorship controlled by Capital which is evolving into a Fascist State. The book provides an in depth analysis and contention that Mexicanos and Latinos in Aztlán Southwest are an occupied and internal colonized people. It argues they are the Palestinians and Kurds of the United States. His supposition is sustained by the book's profiles of Mexicano political history, demography, socioeconomics, electoral politics, immigration, and the Triad Crisis e.g. Second Great Depression, Global Economic Crisis, and Global Capitalist Crisis. Each chapter provides the justification and case for Navarro's two unique alternative change models applicable to today's bankrupt and failed Mexicano and Latino Politics in the twenty first century. The preferred model is Aztlán's Politics of a Nation Within a Nation (APNWN) which is based on the models of the Mormon Nation of Utah and that of French Quebec. Navarro therefore calls for the reformation of the United States liberal capitalist system by way of social democracy for the empowerment of Mexicanos and Latinos. His second model is Aztlán's Politics of Separatism (APS) which offers two strategic options: 1) Aztlán Southwest becoming a separate and sovereign nation state or 2) its reannexation and re integration with Mexico. Navarro outlines a plan of action for building a New Movement designed to attain APNWN or APS. In addition several ominous forecasts are made such as the United States being in a state of decline and no longer a hegemonic superpower due to the rise of a multi polar world. Moreover Navarro attributes the United States decline to the inherent contradictions of global capitalism. His sobering message is that if the current economic conditions are left unchanged this will produce an End of Times scenario the unleashing of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse.

Mobilizing Democracy Paul Almeida, 2014-08

What are the conditions and factors that drive people to protest against government economic policies in the developing world Distinguished Scholarship Award of the Pacific Sociological Association 2015 Paul Almeida's comparative study of the largest social movement campaigns that existed between 1980 and 2013 in every Central American country Costa Rica El Salvador Guatemala Honduras Nicaragua and Panama provides a granular examination of the forces that spark mass mobilizations against state economic policy whether those factors are electricity rate hikes or water and health care privatization Many scholars have explained connections between global economic changes and local economic conditions but most of the research has remained at the macro level Mobilizing Democracy contributes to our knowledge about the protest groups on the ground and what makes some localities successful at mobilizing and others less successful His work enhances our understanding of what ingredients contribute to effective protest movements as well as how multiple protagonists labor unions students teachers indigenous groups nongovernmental organizations women's groups environmental organizations and oppositional political parties coalesce to make protest more likely to win major concessions Based on extensive field research archival data of thousands of protest events and interviews with dozens of Central American activists Mobilizing Democracy brings the international consequences of privatization trade liberalization and welfare state downsizing in the global South into focus and shows how persistent activism and network building are reactivated in these social movements Almeida enables our comprehension of global and local politics and policy by answering the question If all politics is local then how do the politics of globalization manifest themselves Detailed graphs and maps provide a synthesis of the quantitative and qualitative data in this important study Written in clear accessible prose this book will be invaluable for students and scholars in the fields of political science social movements anthropology Latin American studies and labor studies Indian Labour Journal ,2013-07 Profits and Poverty International Labour Office,2014 The publication by the ILO of new estimates on forced labour in 2012 created a sense of urgency for addressing implementation gaps relating to the ILO s Forced Labour Conventions leading to the adoption of supplementary standards by the 103rd International Labour Conference in June 2014 The power of normative pressure against those who still use or condone the use of forced labour is essential and national legislation needs to be strengthened to combat forced labour and penalties against those who profit from it need to be strictly enforced However a better understanding of the socio economic root causes and a new assessment of the profits of forced labour are equally important to bringing about long term change This report highlights how forced labour which in the private economy generates US 150 billion in illegal profits per year about three times more than previously estimated thrives in the incubator of poverty and vulnerability low levels of education and literacy migration and other factors The evidence presented illustrates the need for stronger measures of prevention and protection as well as for enhanced law enforcement as the basic responses to forced labour At the same time the report offers new knowledge of the determinants of forced labour including a range of figures that break down profits by area of forced labour and by region This can help us develop policies and programmes not only to stop forced labour where it exists but to prevent it before it occurs Parliamentary Debates (Hansard).
