From an Ethic of Sufficiency to its Policy and Practice in Late Capitalism Manu V. Mathai, Sylvia Lorek, Wolfgang Sachs, 2023-12-13. That the notion of sufficiency is essential for a good life is an idea that enjoys support across many ethical, philosophical, religious and cultural persuasions. This notion reasserted itself in the study of sustainability once modern society reluctantly took cognizance of the limited low entropy energy and matter available for human appropriation. There is today therefore a general recognition of i.e. not necessarily wide agreement on the merits of or needs for notions of sufficiency as a species of environmentalism within secular communities. In this context a critical question that invites our attention is how to effect sufficiency and in particular of dealing with the daunting challenge of injustice as well as questions of distribution within and between countries that it brings to attention. Given sufficiency's original home as it were in tradition the modern world has tended to dismiss it or to plead to individual voluntary simplicity when faced with evidence asserting its necessity. Sufficiency is also often written away as a spiritual problem. The domain of ascetics and the religious. How to habilitate sufficiency in a political economy for the secular modern facing its biggest existential challenge yet in the form of the environmental crisis.

The Routledge Handbook of Tourism in Asia C. Michael Hall, Stephen J. Page, 2016-09-13. Asia is regarded as the fastest growing area for international and domestic tourism in the world today and over the next 20 years. Given the economic, social and environmental importance of tourism in the region there is a need for a comprehensive and readable overview of the critical debates and controversies in tourism in the region and the major factors that are affecting tourism.

development both now and in the foreseeable future This Handbook provides a contemporary survey of the region and its continued growth and development as a key destination and generator of tourism which is marked by a high proportion of intra regional travel The book is divided into five sections This first section provides an introduction to the region and context to the nationally focused chapters The next three sections are then broadly based on the three UNWTO Asian regions South East Asia South and Central Asia and East and North East Asia providing readers with a valuable snapshot of tourism at various scales and from various approaches and positions The concluding section considers future prospects for tourism in Asia The handbook is interdisciplinary in coverage and is also international in scope through its authorship and content It presents a range of perspectives and understanding of the processes and forces that are shaping tourism in this fascinating and dynamic region that is one of the focal points of global tourism This is essential reading for students researchers and academics interested in tourism in the growth region of Asia now and in the future

The rising costs of animal-source foods in Ethiopia: Evidence and implications Bachewe, Fantu Nisrane,Minten, Bart,Yimer, Feiruz,2017-08-11 In many developing countries in which staple foods dominate the composition of diets higher consumption of animal source foods ASF is associated with significant nutritional benefits Given the importance of prices for consumption decisions in these settings we analyze ASF price patterns in the last decade 2007 2016 relying on a large scale price dataset collected in 116 urban retail markets in Ethiopia We document important seasonal and spatial patterns and we find worryingly that real prices of ASF have been increasing in the last decade by between 32 to 36 percent for three major ASF milk eggs and meat Similar price increases are noted in rural and urban areas and for tradable and non tradable ASFs This price trend is in contrast with staple cereals for which real prices stayed at similar levels over the last decade As we estimate that a price increase of this magnitude would reduce consumption of ASF by approximately 25 percent holding other things constant it seems that more investments and attention to the production of ASF and the livestock sector are needed to reduce ASF prices and increase their consumption in Ethiopia
