Aging In Hong Kong 5 International Perspectives On Aging:

Age-Friendly Cities and Communities in International Comparison Thibauld Moulaert,Suzanne Garon,2015-12-01

The supportive role of urban spaces in active aging is explored on a world scale in this unique resource using the WHO s Age Friendly Cities and Community model Case studies from the U S Canada Australia Hong Kong and elsewhere demonstrate how the model translates to fit diverse social political and economic realities across cultures and continents ways age friendly programs promote senior empowerment and how their value can be effectively assessed Age friendly criteria for communities are defined and critiqued while extensive empirical data describe challenges as they affect elders globally and how environmental support can help meet them These chapters offer age friendly cities as a corrective to the overemphasis on the medical aspects of elders lives and should inspire new research practice and public policy Included in the coverage A critical review of the WHO Age Friendly Cities Methodology and its implementation Seniors perspectives on age friendly communities The implementation of age friendly cities in three districts of Argentina Age friendly New York City a case study Toward an age friendly European Union Age friendliness childhood and dementia toward generationally intelligent environments With its balance of attention to universal and culture specific concerns Age Friendly Cities and Communities in International Comparison will be of particular interest to sociologists gerontologists and policymakers Given the rapid adoption of the age friendly perspective following its development by the World Health Organization the critical assessment offered in this volume is especially welcome Professor Chris Phillipson University of Manchester Ageing in the Asia-Pacific Region David R. Phillips,2002-11 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Age-Friendly Cities and Communities Tine Buffel,Sophie Handler,Chris Phillipson,2019-02-20 As the drive towards creating age friendly cities grows this important book provides a comprehensive survey of theories and policies aimed at improving the quality of life of older people living in urban areas In this book part of the Ageing in a Global Context series leading international researchers critically assess the problems and the potential of designing age friendly environments The book considers the different ways in which cities are responding to population ageing the different strategies for developing age friendly communities and the extent to which older people themselves can be involved in the co production of age friendly policies and practices The book includes a manifesto for the age friendly movement focused around tackling social inequality and promoting community empowerment

International Perspectives on Older Adult

Social Isolation and Loneliness Ted K. S. Ng,Roger O'Sullivan,Lenard Kaye,James Lubben,Mercedes Bern-Klug,Matthew Lee Smith,2025-05-06 Frontiers in Public Health is excited to announce a Research Topic with the theme International Perspectives on Older Adult Social Isolation and Loneliness This collection aims to address the urgent public health challenge posed by the escalating levels of isolation loneliness and disconnection experienced by older adults The influence of physical environmental social psychological cultural and economic forces on late life relationships and connectedness will be explored

by an international roster of researchers and practice scholars. The perspectives of theorists, educators, administrators, public health officials, clinicians, and program planners will all be included to ensure arriving at a more nuanced appreciation of what has been proclaimed as one of the greatest public health challenges of our day. Arriving at a greater understanding of the conditions that put elders at risk of becoming socially isolated and lonely, the extent to which it should be considered both a personal community and societal threat, the impact of COVID 19, those at greatest risk, its negative consequences and steps that can be taken to prevent, reduce and reverse its occurrence. Ultimately, this Research Topic intends to help readers more thoroughly understand the underlying causes as well as effective programmatic strategies for bolstering older adult social and emotional health and community engagement across diverse cultures, social systems and cohorts. This Research Topic will represent some of the most current theoretical, programmatic and clinical research from around the world inquiring into the growing fragility of late life relationships and the accompanying feelings of disengagement. From multiple disciplinary and professional perspectives, this Research Topic will serve to document our current understanding of the complexities surrounding the negative impacts of weakened relational ties on older adult safety, health and well-being. Additionally, it will showcase some of the most promising programs and interventional techniques that show the greatest promise in helping to repair and maintain the integrity of an older adult's social and community network and support system. Submission topics may include but are not limited to theoretical frameworks and conceptual models of social isolation and loneliness in older adults, epidemiological and prevalence analyses of social isolation and loneliness among diverse populations of older adults, the emotional, behavioural, physical, environmental and social determinants that contribute to the risk for and prevalence of elder isolation and/or loneliness, impacts of social isolation and loneliness on older adult health, safety, cognition, life satisfaction and well-being, innovative programs and interventions aimed at preventing and/or reducing social isolation and loneliness, multidisciplinary approaches to addressing social isolation and loneliness in older adult populations, policy and community-based initiatives to promote social connectedness and engagement, the influence of the COVID 19 pandemic on elder isolation and loneliness, technological advancements and their role in potentially increasing and conversely mitigating social isolation and loneliness among older adults.

Aging in Hong Kong Jean Woo, 2012-09-06. With the longest life expectancy for men and the second longest for women, Hong Kong typifies our planet's aging population. The daily lives of its older adults closely match the advantages and disadvantages experienced by urban elders in other developed countries. For these reasons, Hong Kong's elderly serve as a salient guide to older people's social, psychological, and healthcare needs, concerns of increasing importance as the world grows older. Aging in Hong Kong examines this emblematic population as a case study, specifically in comparison with their counterparts in the West, shedding light on diverse, interrelated currents in the aging experience. Referencing numerous international studies, the book contrasts different health service arrangements and social factors and relates them to a variety of health outcomes. Its wide-ranging coverage documents health and illness trends reviews age friendly policy initiatives relates health literacy to patients active role in their own care and discusses elders as an underserved group in the division of limited health funding and resources This multiple focus draws readers attention to policies that need revisiting or retooling as chapters analyze major life areas including Living environment Retirement and post retirement employment issues Financial asset management Health literacy regarding aging issues Elder positive service delivery models Ageism in the prioritization of healthcare End of life issues By assembling such a wealth of data on its subject Aging in Hong Kong puts ongoing challenges into clear focus for gerontologists sociologists health and cross cultural psychologists public health policymakers and others involved in improving the quality of elders lives

An International Perspective on the Status of Older Women Sheila M. Peace,1981 Handbook of Asian Aging Hyunsook

Yoon,Jon Hendricks,2018-10-26 In western countries the rising tide of population aging took 100 years to alter the face of societies but Asia is experiencing comparable changes in not much more than a quarter of a century Contributors to The Handbook of Aging describe the magnitude of these changes and their effects on the aged and on societies attempting to adapt to the dramatic improvements in life expectancy brought on by rapid economic and social transformations Asia encompasses a vast reach from Pakistan and India to Japan the Philippines and Indonesia and in this book including Australia The Handbook of Aging provides a framework for making sense of the meeting between reverential views of the elderly and contemporary priorities as Asia arrives at the crossroads The need for innovative approaches to social policy and personal practices is nowhere more evident than in Asian countries where modern marketing economies have forced hard political choices The economic tigers of the Asian Pacific region experienced the aging of their populations ahead of other Asian countries but solutions reached during times of financial boom are being re examined as economies come back to earth with soft or hard landings The Handbook of Asian Aging provides an atlas of the far reaching changes that are afoot and that will become even more pronounced in the near future

International Perspectives on Human Development Anna Laura

Comunian,Uwe Peter Gielen,2000 The SAGE Handbook of Applied Social Psychology Kieran C. O'Doherty,Darrin Hodgetts,2019-01-14 This book offers an overview of the field of social psychology and its disparate and evolving approaches It also brings prominent research literature together and organizes it around several key areas culture race indigeneity gender sexuality politics health and mental health work aging communication education environment and criminal justice law crime

Aging North Carolina. General Assembly. Legislative Research Commission,1978 Family Care of the Elderly Jordan Kosberg,1992-08-10 The caregiving systems and institutions in all countries of the world are being constantly challenged as we experience myriad social and cultural changes Family Care of the Elderly focuses upon these care systems and explores the consequences of cultural change upon traditional caregiving The introductory chapter provides a theoretical framework for understanding the differences between the countries and identifies consistent trends The chapters that follow are organized according to the degree of development of the countries presented and address the following topics traditional characteristics societal changes consequences of the changes and responses to the changes Specific issues addressed include programs and services supporting family caregiving institutional care perceived responsibilities by government private sector religion family etc and public policies affecting the elderly Using this framework the reader will easily compare the policies and programs within the various countries A concluding chapter points to variations and similarities between countries and examines future implications of a changing world and family caregiving     Old Age in Global Perspective Steven Mark Albert,Maria G. Cattell,1994 Old Age in Global Perspective examines old age around the world by drawing on data from two major sources ethnographic anthropological field research and cross national surveys The authors use biologic demographic and sociocultural approaches to amplify our understanding of variations in individuals experiences of aging and old age in the modern context of aging populations Elders living arrangements intergenerational experiences social relationships and progression through the life course are extensively discussed as are the effects of modernization on late life Conclusions are formulated as brief summary discussions by topic and twenty three specific hypotheses are suggested for future research This volume will be a valuable reference for professionals and advanced students in anthropology sociology and gerontology
