Evaluating the adoption and impacts of agricultural technologies Francisco Areal,Valerien Pede,2023-12-18

Producing agricultural population estimates using an area frame Missiroli, S., Bako, D., Salazar, D.,2023-03-03

Estimating with a high precision the number of agricultural holdings and other population related indicators is one of the main targets of the agricultural surveys Achieving this objective is not straightforward when using an area frame the choice of the estimator is indeed delicate since it depends on the criterion to link the observation units e g agricultural holdings or tracts and the sampling units e g segments or points According to the rule chosen different types of estimators are defined the open segment estimator the closed segment estimator the weighted segment estimator the Horvitz Thompson estimator and the multiplicity estimator Moreover auxiliary variables correlated to the population indicators can be used to produce the estimates this is the case of the ratio estimator In this paper we describe the estimators mentioned above focusing particularly on the comparison between them when the target parameter to be estimated is the number of agricultural holdings Biotic and Abiotic Stress Tolerance in Plants Sharad Vats,2018-06-11 This book highlights some of the most important biochemical physiological and molecular aspects of plant stress together with the latest updates It is divided into 14 chapters written by eminent experts from around the globe and highlighting the effects of plant stress biotic and abiotic on the photosynthetic apparatus metabolites programmed cell death germination etc In turn the role of beneficial elements glutathione S transferase phosphite and nitric oxide in the adaptive response of plants under stress and as a stimulator of better plant performance is also discussed A dedicated chapter addresses research advances in connection with Capsicum a commercially important plant and stress tolerance from classical breeding to the recent use of large scale transcriptome and genome sequencing technologies The book also explores the significance of the liliputians of the plant kingdom Bryophytes as biomonitors bioindicators and general and specialized bioinformatics resources that can benefit anyone working in the field of plant stress biology Given the information compiled here the book will offer a valuable guide for students and researchers of plant molecular biology and stress physiology alike Plant Biotechnology and Sustainable Agriculture Tariq

Aftab,2025-08-08 Plant biotechnology offers an array of powerful tools and techniques that can revolutionize the way we cultivate crops enhance their nutritional value and address critical challenges such as climate change pests and limited resources Through understanding the genetic makeup of plants and manipulating it using scientific techniques we can develop crops that are more resistant to pests and diseases more tolerant of abiotic stresses such as drought and salinity and more nutritious Ultimately this helps us to produce more food with fewer resources and less environmental impact As the global population continues to grow the need for sustainable and efficient agricultural practices becomes increasingly pressing This book describes the latest advances in genetic engineering molecular biology and stress physiology and explores the ethical and regulatory considerations that underpin this transformative science 2025-26 RRB NTPC CBT Stage-I &

II General Awareness Solved Papers Vol.03 YCT Expert Team , 2025 26 RRB NTPC CBT Stage I II General Awareness Solved Papers Vol 03 640 1295 E This book contains 221 sets of the previous year solved papers      The Economics of Integrated Pest Management of Insects David W Onstad, Philip Crain, 2019-09-02 The book begins by establishing an economic framework upon which to apply the principles of IPM Then it looks at the entomological applications of economics specifically economic analyses concerning chemical biological cultural and genetic control tactics as well as host plant resistance and the cost of sampling Lastly it evaluates whether the control provided by a traditional IPM system is sufficient or if changes to the system design would yield greater benefits      Report on monitoring schemes and data collection on biodiversity for food and agriculture in Eastern Europe and Central Asia Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2021-10-19 Biodiversity protection encompasses key aspects directly related to the sustainability of our food systems BFA provides a diverse and heterogeneous biological basis for diverse and resilient production systems for the pollination of cultures for increased diversity of food and is strongly linked to local and indigenous knowledge on local crops and breeds acknowledged as cultural heritage This study examines the existence of data collection monitoring systems and conservation initiatives as well as legislation and policies related to biodiversity for food and agriculture in the three following regions 1 Central Asia 2 the South Caucasus countries Turkey Belarus and Ukraine and 3 the Western Balkan countries and the Republic of Moldova From this study it appears that none of the three studied regions currently have any solid monitoring schemes for agricultural biodiversity nor do they have a strong legal framework for protecting farmers rights to seeds that would allow them amongst other things to maintain biodiversity Conservation actions policies and legislation generally concern wild biodiversity conservation through habitat protection and crop genetic resources conservation but rarely address biodiversity for food and agriculture or wild biodiversity loss caused by food systems The three regional reports conducted in the framework of this study reported a general lack of capacities and a particularly low level of involvement of farmers and other food producers in monitoring data collection and conservation activities The combination of these two major observations leads us to the conclusion that the governance of BFA should be transformed to put food producers at the centre of biodiversity monitoring and conservation in dialogue with scientists and institutional actors Their specific expertise must be acknowledged and valued in the efforts of preserving the biodiversity that they cultivate and sustain Beyond this needed shift in the governance of monitoring activities we highlight the necessity of a regional articulation of monitoring efforts and a specific focus on local threatened varieties and breeds beyond habitat conservation while very comprehensively considering BFA and wild biodiversity impacted by food systems Regarding biodiversity protection we recommend in addition to farmer centered data collection and monitoring system implementation addressing the root causes of biodiversity loss adopting a systematic approach in legislations policies and actions while supporting agroecology and fulfilling international instruments that guarantee the rights of producers to grow and raise local varieties and breeds      Trade Policy Review
