This report presents strategies that can leverage the potential of food systems to become the engine of inclusive economic development and rural prosperity in low income countries It analyses the structural and rural transformations now under way and examines the opportunities and challenges they present to millions of small scale food producers It shows how an agroterritorial planning approach focused on connecting cities and towns and their surrounding rural areas combined with agro industrial and infrastructure development can generate income opportunities throughout the food sector and underpin sustainable and inclusive rural transformation Capitalism and Agrarian Change Muchtar Habibi,2022-11-17 Small scale agricultural producers in the peripheral world are often condescendingly assumed to be a single social class the peasantry to be pitted against the state or corporation This book challenges this rather idealistic view by demonstrating that under current capitalist social relations competition efficiency and productivity and profit maximisation these agricultural producers have been differentiated into different agrarian classes by exploitation By comparing two different contexts of local agrarian change in Indonesia rice cultivation in Java and oil palm in Sumatra this book exposes the different class locations of the agrarian classes among petty agricultural producers and the class relations between them These are often inextricably linked to gender clanship and generational issues The power of class dynamics crucially shapes how agricultural production in both rice and oil palm is organised The share received by different agrarian classes from the production site then prominently shapes the different nature of class reproduction for each agrarian class This analysis demonstrates that the different agrarian classes possess different capacities and responses in their relation to the state or corporations Any real emancipation attempt in the Indonesian countryside and beyond must start from a proper understanding of these class
