Research Methodology in Agricultural Sciences Jayne Njeri Mugwe, Steven Runo, 2026-01-01 This authored textbook provides a comprehensive guide to the methods and methodologies currently used in agricultural research covering the entire process from conceptualisation to reporting. Recognising the interdisciplinary nature of agricultural science the book integrates both biophysical and social science approaches including experimental design on farm research surveys, qualitative and mixed methods research and impact evaluation. It also addresses both quantitative and qualitative data analysis. In addition to methodological guidance the book offers practical support in scientific writing, thesis development, journal article publication and science communication. Theories and concepts are clearly explained using real world examples, flow diagrams, photographs and case studies to enhance understanding. Designed to support students and early career researchers this book helps ease the steep learning curve associated with conducting credible, ethical and impactful research. It will be a valuable resource for students, faculty, researchers, professionals, agricultural scientists and policy makers in both national and international contexts.

Engagement in Food System Governance Alan R. Hunt, 2015-10-05 The local food movement is one of the most active of current civil engagement social movements. This work presents primary evidence from over 900 documents, interviews and participant observations and provides the first descriptive history of local food movement national policy achievements in the US from 1976 to 2013 and in the UK from 1991 to 2013 together with reviews of both the American and British local food movements. It provides a US/UK comparative context significantly updating earlier comparisons of American, British and European farm and rural policies. The comparative perspective shows that over time more effective strategies for national policy change required social movement building strategies such as collaborative policy coalitions, capacity building for smaller organizations and policy entrepreneurship for joining together separate rural, farming, food and health interests. In contrast, narrowly defined single issue campaigns often undermined long term policy change even if short term wins emerged. By profiling interviews of American and English movement leaders, policymakers and funders the book demonstrates that democratic participation in food policy is best supported when funders incentivize groups to work together and overcome their differences.
