differences in the impact of exposure to air pollution on cognitive performance in China Chen, Xi,Zhang, Xiaobo,Zhang, Xin,2017-03-11 While there is a large body of literature on the negative health effects of air pollution there is much less written about its effects on cognitive performance for the whole population This paper studies the effects of contemporaneous and cumulative exposure to air pollution on cognitive performance based on a nationally representative survey in China By merging a longitudinal sample at the individual level with local air quality data according to the exact dates and counties of interviews we find that contemporaneous and cumulative exposure to air pollution impedes both verbal and math scores of survey subjects Interestingly the negative effect is stronger for men than for women Specifically the gender difference is more salient among the old and less educated in both verbal and math tests

Translanguaging and

Epistemological Decentring in Higher Education and Research Heidi Bojsen,Petra Daryai-Hansen,Anne Holmen,Karen Risager,2023-01-13 Using data from multilingual settings in universities and adjacent learning contexts in East Asia North Africa Central and North America and Europe this book provides examples of the heuristic value of translanguaging and epistemological decentring Despite this and other theoretical and empirical work and ever stronger calls for the inclusion of other languages epistemologies and constructions of culture in higher education decentring and translanguaging practices are often relegated to the margins or suppressed in research and education because of the organisational structures of education institutions and prevailing language norms policies and ideologies The authors draw on research on pluri and multilingualism within education studies as well as post and decolonial theoretical contributions to the research on the role of language in education and knowledge production to provide evidence that decentring cannot happen until learners have been given the tools to identify which sorts of centring dynamics and conditions are salient to their learning and trans languaging

Challenges and Obstacles Lukas Habib, 2015-07-22 Master s Thesis from the year 2015 in the subject Politics Topic International Organisations grade 2 0 University of Frankfurt Main course Internationale Studien language English abstract The Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan is characterized by a high vulnerability regarding climate change induced effects and environmental developments As governmental bodies seem to fail the task of preserving the human habitat environmental NGOs are already filling a gap Likewise the cooperation with international organizations is also an important factor for the work of national NGOs This raises the question if and how the government of Jordan and international organization create obstacles for environmental NGOs After conducting an analysis inspired by grounded theory including a two step coding process of primary data it becomes obvious that environmental NGOs in Jordan are facing several challenges Firstly they are adopting governmental tasks Secondly NGOs are challenged by a high level of competition Thirdly they are confronted with difficulties created by international organizations and the government Furthermore those actors are in need of gaining financial security and to improve international cooperation within the Levant to diminish climate change induced effects negative environmental developments and to contribute to a sustainable environment
