

ROAD TO RECOVERY

1

DISCOVERY

Drugs and/or alcohol is starting to have a negative impact on your life.

- Performance at school or work is declining.
- Strain on relationships.
- Trouble with the law.

ADMIT IT

You admit to yourself, family and friends that your addiction is a problem. You agree that your addiction needs to be addressed.

TREATMENT

Selecting an appropriate treatment plan is essential for your recovery journey. Some of the most popular options are, going cold turkey, checking into a rehabilitation centre or attending support groups.

RESIDENTIAL REHAB

Before you try to live sober in your current environment, it is recommended that you try and live sober free for at least 90 days – 6 months at a residential rehabilitation facility. This is a great way of building up your support network and gaining better coping skills that can better equip you for sober life.

ENJOY LIFE

Now you get to enjoy life as a sober individual, you get to experience all the possibilities that the world has to offer. It is exciting but still difficult at times, however the future is much brighter than it has been in a long time for you.

2

INTERVENTION

Family and friends become aware of your problem and gather together to offer their support, they may or may not have a treatment plan in place.

3

7

SOBER

Now you are at home. You know that you have to continue going to support groups.

4

ACCEPT HELP

Accepting professional help is an important step in your recovery journey. The road to recovery is hard and one that you shouldn't do alone. Accepting help is a sign of strength not weakness.

6

DETOK

Detoxification (detox) is the process of clearing the body of drugs or alcohol that you have consumed. It can be a very painful, one that you should not do alone.
