CENAS Giuseppe Gambolati, 2012-12-06 The Upper Adriatic Sea basin comprises a very precarious coastal environment subject to continuous changes which prove appreciable not only over the geological scale but also in historical and modern times According to some Authors the Venice Lagoon was formed 2000 3000 years ago and other lagoons e.g. the Grado Lagoon in the northernmost part of the Adriatic are even more recent In addition to lagoons the Upper Adriatic coastal area includes salt and fresh water marshes and reclaimed land separated by several watercourses originating from the Alpine and Apennine ranges with a ground elevation not exceeding in many places 2 m above the mean sea level msl A significant fraction of this lowland is already now below msl because of natural and anthropogenic land subsidence land reclamation and sea level rise occurred over the last century Natural land subsidence is still under way as a result of deep downward tectonic movement and consolidation of soils deposited in the most recent time Anthropogenic subsidence is primarily due to groundwater pumping for agricultural industrial civil and tourist use and to gas withdrawal from a large number of gas fields scattered through the Upper Adriatic basin and may still continue although at a reduced rate in the years to come At the same time msl is expected to rise in the next century due to global climate change mainly because of the greenhouse effect

Sentimental Memorials Melissa Sodeman, 2014-11-12 During the later eighteenth century changes in the meaning and status of literature left popular sentimental novels stranded on the margins of literary history While critics no longer dismiss or ignore these works recent reassessments have emphasized their interventions in various political and cultural debates rather than their literary significance Sentimental Memorials by contrast argues that sentimental novels gave the women who wrote them a means of clarifying protesting and finally memorializing the historical conditions under which they wrote As women writers successfully navigated the professional marketplace but struggled to position their works among more lasting literary monuments their novels reflect on what the elevation of literature would mean for women's literary reputations Drawing together the history of the novel women's literary history and book history Melissa Sodeman revisits the critical frameworks through which we have understood the history of literature Novels by Sophia Lee Ann Radcliffe Charlotte Smith and Mary Robinson she argues offer ways of rethinking some of the signal literary developments of this period from emerging notions of genius and originality to the rise of an English canon And in Sodeman's analysis novels long seen as insufficiently literary acquire formal and self-historicizing importance

Aging and Old-Age Style in Günter Grass, Ruth

Klüger, Christa Wolf, and Martin Walser Stuart Taberner, 2013 Explores the performance of aging in the late style of G nter Grass Ruth Kl ger Christa Wolf and Martin Walser Demographers say that by the year 2060 every seventh person in Germany will be aged eighty or older and every third person over sixty five The prediction for other Western countries is scarcely different Indeed the aging society is seen by some as a graver threat than even global warming with potentially unmanageable tensions relating to intergenerational relationships work and benefits and flows of people This book explores the representation and performance of aging in recent late style German language fiction It situates the authors chosen as case studies G nter Grass Ruth Kl ger Christa Wolf and Martin Walser in their biographical and social contexts and explores the significance of their aesthetic figuring of aging for debates raging both in Germany and internationally In particular the book looks at gender generations and trauma and their impact on how writers narrativize aging Finally it examines the timeliness of these different representations and late style performances of aging in the context of the shift of social political and economic power away from the declining societies of the West to the ascendant societies of the East Stuart Taberner is Professor of Contemporary German Literature Culture and Society at the University of Leeds
