Martin Henig, 1978 The primary purpose of an engraved gem or ring bezel cut in intaglio was to make an impression upon some fictile material which would be understood by the owner of the device and by his associates as a personal signature So began Martin Henig s original BAR Number 7 from 1978 in the British Series of British Archaeological Reports a catalogue and study of over 1000 Roman engraved gemstones from the British Isles Nearly 30 years later comes the third edition of this study the new Preface to which concludes Over the years I have thought more about gems in relation to other arts and have integrated glyptics into my book on The Art of Roman Britain 1995 Several papers I have written recently have attempted to use gems like sculpture painting and bronzes to elucidate general artistic problems This should be obvious but how many art historians seem to have the inclination to take gems seriously At least interest in provincial glyptics seems greater today and that gives me grounds for hope Important studies are being conducted across the Empire ranging from Belgium and Portugal to Turkey and Israel It is for each new generation to reassess the evidence in the case of our subject with the aid of new
