Making Deep Sense of Informational Texts Gwen J. Pauloski, 2025-04-01 Author Gwen J Pauloski introduces four flexible adolescent literacy practices that help secondary students make deeper sense of the complex informational texts they encounter in school and beyond. Adolescent readers learn age appropriate comprehension strategies and practice applying them as they discuss, analyze, and write about their reading. The author offers strategy learning guides, lesson examples, and planning templates for teachers. Grades 6-12 teachers, reading specialists, and instructional coaches can use this book to Employ research based strategies to help students actively engage with informational texts. Teach students to identify and assess integral arguments, perspectives, and rhetoric. Challenge students to reconstruct what they learn from a reading in their own words. Encourage students active participation in text centered class discussions. Increase students motivation and competence when approaching complex texts. Achieving Next Generation Literacy Maureen Connolly, Vicky Giouroukakis, 2016-04-29 As a teacher, what you want most is for your students to learn to immerse themselves in rich and challenging content and leave your classroom better prepared for school and life. In English language arts and humanities, this includes developing the multifaceted reading, writing, thinking, and communication skills that constitute next generation literacy, including the ability to Read complex text independently. Develop strong content knowledge through reading, writing, listening, and speaking. Tailor communication in response to different audiences, tasks, purposes, and disciplines. Comprehend text as well as critique it. Value evidence in arguments they read, hear, or develop. Use technology strategically and capably. Understand perspectives and cultures that differ from their own. But as a teacher, you also know how much is riding on THOSE TESTS: achievement tests from the national assessment consortia, the SAT and ACT, and independent state assessments. Is it possible to help students succeed on mandated tests without sacrificing your values, your creativity, and their education? Yes, it is possible. This book shows you how. This is not a test prep book. It is not about drill and kill practices that narrow learning so that students will pass an exam. Instead, authors Maureen Connolly and Vicky Giouroukakis present a lesson planning approach for the secondary classroom that generates test success as a byproduct of comprehensive literacy learning. After a comparative analysis of how current ELA assessments measure literacy, they model a backward design based process for using these test items as a tool to create engaging and effective instruction. With 6 sample lessons, 42
